

Professor Hani H. NIGIM

Hani Nigim is a Professor of Engineering with many years of research, teaching, and consulting experience. He was awarded his PhD degree from Leicester University, England, in 1981. Since then, Professor Nigim has held many academic positions such as Dean of Engineering at Birzeit in the West Bank, and the University President of Al Azhar University in Gaza Strip.

Currently, Professor Nigim is the Coordinator of the National Tertiary Education Project which is funded by World Bank. He was visiting professor and invited speaker to many international academic and industrial institutions; UK, USA, Germany, France, Japan, China, South Korea etc.

Professor Nigim has many publications in specialized journals. In addition, he has organized many engineering conferences and exhibitions held in Palestine and abroad.

He has served on numerous Professional Committees, Boards of Directors and Trustees.

Also, he is member/Fellow of a number of regional and international professional institutions and syndicates.